Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

Two men killed on New Year's Day over a miserable, patched tin privy, which the alleged murderer considered his property, though he had no title to it. Neither of the two killed had molested the privy. An old man, partly drunk, visiting a little family there, had wrenched the padlock and hasp from the door. In his drunken fancy he thought someone had put a padlock on the rusty, filthy little outhouse, as a joke. The two who died were really trying to save this poor old man from the death that came to them. As a result of this double murder, eight young children are left fatherless, (five in one family, three in the other) adrift in a wintry world, dependent on their mother's efforts and charity for their daily bread. Even if the murderer or murderers are convicted no atonement can be made to these children.

According to common rumor slot machines have vanished from the county. These "one armed bandits" were being operated throughout the county in violation of the law. The District Attorney addressed a letter to all the peace officers charged with the duty of enforcing the law. He pointed out, in effect, that the machines were operated throughout the county, save in Nevada City, and followed that by citing the law which makes it a misdemeanor for peace officers to evade their duty in arresting and filing charges against slot machine operators. It was then hardly necessary for the peace officers to notify slot machine operators to take them out. That was done almost instanter. We think District Attorney Stoll should be commended by every law-abiding citizen.

President Roosevelt's address delivered in person to Congress on the "State of the Union" Wednesday reveals an adroit change of direction. No longer does he regard as perfect the new machinery created for social reforms. He is willing to admit that some of the laws need mending, though he, unfortunately, refrains from saying which ones He still regards himself, however, as an American Messiah. He refers to the struggle between industry and organized labor, class hatred, and internicine war between labor factions as if they were something with which he has had nothing to do. The bitter clash between industry and labor during the past two years, the battle between Lewis and Green and their followers, the arraying of class against class in this great republic, the fear of investors to employ money lying idle in the banks in any kind of productive activity, the fact that during his entire regime there have been ten million unemployed, despite the expenditure of nearly twenty billion dollars, these things lie on the President's doorstep. He personally is directly or indirectly responsible for them. For to him Congress gave the power and the authority.

We do not charge the President with intellectual dishonesty. It may be that, we do not know. In any event he does not, as is apparent in Wednesday's address, realize his own part in prolonging the nation's distress. The Wilson administration plunged this country into tremendous debt. It was done to prosecute a war for an ideal. Today in time of peace, President Roosevelt has plunged the country into a greater debt for another ideal. We find no fault with the ideals of either of these men. But we do find fault with President Roosevelt's "now" and "must." It would have been enough for his eight year regime, if he had succeeded in curing just one national ill. For instance, the relations between industry and labor. That would have been an historical achievement. Instead of that he has tinkered with every American institution, including the judiciary. He has listened to every hare-brained visionary that could get close enough to be heard. He has often acted impulsively, as it turns out foolishly. We think the appointment of Black to the Supreme Court was just that.

Even now he still clings to his plan of reorganizing all government agencies. While we believe that is indeed a very necessary measure of economy, we have seen enough of Mr. Roosevelt's handiwork to know that any measure he would approve in this regard would make a bad matter worse. He is a natural spendthrift. Even his own father left him his fortune to him in trust.

GOLD FLAT SCHOOL NEGOTIATIONS DELAYED

Joseph Day, member of the school board of Oakland school district, which embraces the Gold Flat school stated that negotiations for consolidation with Nevada City school district, which have been underway would be postponed until the next school year.

According to Day, the Nevada City school board members met with the Gold Flat board Tuesday and discussed the plan, whereby Nevada City would take over the obligations of the school, enlarge the district, and include the tax in the Nevada City school tax.

Day stated the chief advantage would be secured through uniformity of classwork with that of the city schools, and possible advantage in lowered taxes should the Gold Flat region show any population increase. Under the new setup Gold Flat would maintain a board as previously.

NOR. SAN JUAN MAY NOT LIGHT UP BEFORE MAY

It may be more than two months before North San Juan is able to "light up" with electricity. Tim Burke, right-of-way manager for the Pacific Gas & Electric Company yesterday left for San Juan ridge with an armful of right-of-way deeds which he hopes to have signed expeditously. As soon as these have been signed by property owners over whose land the line will be built, work can be started digging pole holes and stringing power poles.

Dan Stewart, Nevada county manager for the P. G. & E. stated yesterday that he regarded it doubtful whether the line would be completed and house wiring done in North San Juan, much before May.
is planning a big celebration when,

In the meantime North San Juan for the first time in history, the town lights up with electric current. The William Bull Meek chapter of E Clampus Vitus has been invited to conduct the celebration and ceremonies in its ancient and time-honored manner. Clyde Gwin, has been duly appointed master of ceremonies by Fred Nobs, Noble Grand Humbug of the order.

BURTON SENTENCED TO 25 DAYS IN JAIL

Roy Burton who resided near the city limits on Park Avenue, and was arrested on a battery charge last week sworn to by his house keeper Mrs. Hooper, plead guilty yesterday afternoon. He appeared before Judge Miles Coughlin in the justice court and was fined $50. or 25 days in the county jail. Burton chose to serve the 25 days.

Burton is also accused of buying high grade gold without a license and disposing of it. The complaint on this score is signed and awaiting his completion of his jail sentence. The last charge will call for a hearing in a federal court.

NEW ROAD INTO ALLEGHANY IS BEING BUILT

Supervisor Elton (Spec) Carvin of Sierra county is building a new county road down the ridge from Alleghany to Forest City and on to Freeman's Crossing. About five miles of the new road are completed. It is aimed to keep out of the snow belt as much as possible and also shorten the distance, between these cities and Nevada City, several miles. Ed Deal, former tractor driver for this supervisorial district, is tractor driver for Sierra county under Mr. Carvin. Due to a breakdown of equipment he was in Nevada City Wednesday on business.

W. B. Celio, who is suffering with another attack of rheumatism, was down in the business district with his son, Gove, Tuesday, for a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Tetz of Willetts and Mrs. Tetz' mother, Mrs. W. P. Sawyer, arrived in Nevada City for the holidays with Mrs. Sawyer's daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Skeahan. Mr. and Mrs. Tetz have returned home while Mrs. Sawyer remained.

ROTARY CLUB WELCOMES TWO NEW MEMBERS

The Rotary club will celebrate another ladies night next Thursday evening at a 6:30 o'clock dinner in the National Hotel. The Marysville Glee club is coming up to sing on this occasion. All members are urged to make the event one hundred per cent in attendance.

Two new members were welcomed into the Rotary club at luncheon yesterday. They were Dick Lane and Berle Robinson, under the respective classifications of garage owner and service station owner.

The program consisted of a talk by William Lee on his experiences as a U. S. engineer in Haiti. He stated that the abysmal ignorance of the negro descendants of the original slaves in that island is almost beyond belief. He traded a rotogravure full page picture of President Harding to one of these negroes for a horse, and the negro hung the picture up in his cabin and charged 3 cents admission to others in the village to view it. The negro became relatively wealthy, indicating that though ignorant the negro knew his way around.

On another occasion 3500 negroes rioted while being paid off. The negroes crowded about the table where the paymaster was busy and presently a fight was started. During the melee the money was raked from the table into a sack, but owing to the surging back and forth the sack was finally dropped and in the tight packed mob none was able to get away with it. Finally the mob was dispersed and all the money recovered.

STUDENTS BACK IN SCHOOL MON.

The Nevada City high and elementary school students will resume their studies Monday. From present indications school enrollment will be about the same as in the fall term.

From the elementary school it was learned the following teachers are away on vacations: Miss Ruth Hogan is visiting her sisters in Oakland; Miss Grant is at Palo Alto; Miss Ruth Tamblyn with friends in Stockton. Principal Cecil Klee is spending a few days in San Jose.

From the high school Mr. Ralph Smith, musical instructor, and wife are on vacation in Reno; Miss Nell Bagley is in Hanford; Miss Thelma Peterson is visiting near Livermore; Mr. Finley Hobbie and wife are in San Francisco.

OSCAR ODEGAARD IS SLOWLY RECOVERING

Oscar Odegaard, who was badly injured when his car, in which he and his two sons were traveling up the Tahoe-Ukiah highway to the Zeibright mine, a few days ago, skidded and rolled into a canyon, will probably be able to leave the Jones Memorial hospital next Sunday for his home. He will be obliged to remain in bed probably for two months. His injuries consist of a broken leg, just above his ankle, a broken bone in one hand and a deep gash in his scalp, beside many bruises. The car turned over several times after it left the road. The two boys, Jim and Oscar Jr. were practically uninjured. The car has yet not been retrieved from the bottom of the canyon.

HELD TO ANSWER

Walter Shepard, charged with lewd and lascivious conduct at Grass Valley, appeared for his preliminary hearing before Judge Charles Morehouse yesterday and was bound over the superior court. The hearing took place at 2 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Sabin and family of Prospect Hill had as New Years and week end guests, Dr. V. G. Radonich and wife and his brother, Jack Radonich, of Amador county and also his mother, Mrs. Ghesko of Oakland. It is their first trip here for Dr. Radonich and wife and they were so delighted with this section they are planning a return visit.

Alphonse Hartung, local jeweler, has been confined to the Nevada City Sanitarium the past three days with a serve cold is making steady gains in his recovery which is good news to his many friends.

Blackwood Couple Are Arraigned On Charge Of Murder

Irl Blackwood, and his wife, Irene Blackwood were arraigned and formally charged with murder yesterday afternoon before Justice of the Peace C. A. Morehouse. The preliminary hearing will probably take place in Judge Morehouse's court some day next week.

Development in the privy murders that occurred Sunday afternoon in a transient camp on the old Colfax road east of Grass Valley just inside the city limits, reported in Monday's issue of the Nugget, was the inquest Wednesday night, when a coroner's jury found Irl Blackwood, 42 years old, a WPA foreman, and his wife Irene Blackwood 46 years old, responsible for the two murders. The couple were formally charged with murder yesterday. The complaint was signed by Mrs. Gladys Root, wife of James Root, who with Arthur F. Lavalley, was killed in a hail of bullets Sunday afternoon.

Coroner A. M. Holmes conducted the inquest before the following nine jurymen: E. G. Hinds, foreman; Joe O'Neill, Ed Jones, William Mitchell, Fred Morrison, Roy Landsburg, Earl Covey, William Partridge and Gene Johnson. The verdict of the jury was that James Cousins Root and Arthur Frederick Lavalley came to their death on January 1, 1939, at about 4 o'clock p. m. in Grass Valley, California, as a result of gunshot wounds from bullets from gun or guns in the hand or hands of Mr. or Mrs. Blackwood. We further recommended that both Mr. and Mrs. Blackwood be held to answer to the charge of murder.

Witnesses gave conflicting testimony as regards whether Mrs. Blackwood or her husband shot Root. They were practically agreed that Blackwood killed Lavalley.

Those who testified as eyewitnesses at the inquest were Mrs. Root, Mrs. Lavalley, Arthur Shepard, Arthur Maule, Newtown miner, Willie Owen Waiker, Zeibright miner, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wright. Wright is an unemployed butcher and Mrs. Wright is a sister of Mrs. Root and Mrs. Lavalley. In addition to these Ed Martin, a resident of the camp, and Elizabeth Lavalley, 14 years old, were heard.

Those, other than eyewitnesses, who testified were: Dr. Harry Benteen, Capt. J. E. Blake of the traffic patrol and Deputy Sheriff Carl Larsen.

The Roots were giving a New Year dinner in their tent house. To this party Arthur Maule, the Lavalleys and their children, Arthud Shepard, Willie Owen Walker and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wright of 258 Buena Vista street, Grass Valley had been invited.

Maule and Lavalley were visitors to the camp and during the festivity, went outside to the outhouse, only a few steps from the Root house. Maule, who is 62 years old found a padlock on the door. Neither of the two men were aware that this privy was claimed as the property of the Blackwoods, whose trailer home was farther from it than any other of the cabins in the grove. Maule apparently thought the padlock was a joke, easily pulled it off. The Blackwoods, each armed with a revolver, appeared quickly on the scene, so quickly it would seem that they were watching events from their trailer. Lavalley called Root from his tent house. Root appeared with his revolver.

From this point on the testimony of witnesses varied as regards what happened. The six year old son of Root, not called as an inquest witness, who stood within ten feet of where his father fell, says that in throwing away his weapon after an appeal for a peaceful settlement of the trouble, his father slipped on the steep bank and fell. Then, the boy says, Mrs. Blackwood fired. The little boy's testimony, however, was not heard. George Root father of James, who was murdered, was not present, nor a witness at the inquest, but he was one of the first on the scene following the shooting. He was another of the guests at his son's New Year dinner, but had gone down town and returned, as he thought, in time for the dinner. But George Root in reconstructing the crime, declares that Mrs. Blackwood "poured it" into his son after he demonstrated his willingness to keep the peace by throwing away his gun, and at the same moment had slipped and fallen. The course of one bullet, ranging downward from under his shoulder, would indicate that he was shot while he was down.

Following the shooting, according to inquest witnesses, Blackwood and his wife were disarmed by Shepard and Walker. A revolver which Mrs. Root had picked up after her husband had thrown it away, was also taken by her.

The sheriff stated yesterday that he had found several weapons in the Blackwood trailer, including a 22 rifle, a shot gun and another revolver, beside the two carried by Blackwood and his wife.

GAULT BRIDGE SPEED LIMIT 5 MI. PER HOUR

The city council at a meeting last evening set the speed limit over the Gault bridge, Pine street, at five miles per hour. An ordinance was read authorizing the appointment of an official garbage collector for the city. It was laid on the table for the legal five day period.

Street Superintendent Herbert Hallet stated if the weather permits the crews will start pouring cement on the floor of the new bridge at the junction of Broad street and the Plaza the first of next week. Workers will start putting in the steel webbing on the bridge Saturday. There will be about 80 tons of steel. The bridge will have an inch and a half crown in the center for drainage. It will take between two and three weeks for the cement face of the bridge to harden sufficiently for traffic. The bridge is 30 feet wide, the five foot walk on the down stream side will be eight inches higher than the travel way of the bridge.

Clearing of the reservoirs north of the city is progressing at a rapid rate. The dam is being raised six feet and sides raised in proportion. The lower reservoir is being deepened to give more than double its present capacity. Mr. Hallett stated the upper reservoir on the summit between the airport and Sugar Loaf is to be deepened and made twice its present size.

The B street project has been started and when completed will give the street a two way road. It extends from Coyote to Nevada street.

Success Story, New Style

(From the New York World-Telegram)

Reporting a question-and-answer session between Wage-Hour Administrator Elmer F. Andrews and Denver businessmen, the Rocky Mountain News quotes the following:

Businessman — "Can an employer permit a worker to work overtime, or must he lock him out?"

Mr. Andrews—"In my opinion, such a worker should be dealt with the same as one who persisted in quitting early. He should be fired."

Well, we can see Mr. Andrews' point, if an employer is unwilling to pay the legal time-and-a-half for hours in excess of forty-four a week, the only way he can obey the Wage-Hour act is to prohibit overtime work—and enforce the prohibition. It would undermine the law if employees vied with each other in "voluntary" overtime work without pay.

But the American success story formula certainly is going to have to be revised to something like this:

Boss—"Young man, I notice that you never watch the clock."

Employee—"No sir."

"And I often find you here at your desk, after closing hours, or even in the evening."

"Yes sir. You see, I want to learn the business."

"You know, of course, that I can't afford to pay you overtime for it?"

"Oh, that's all right. I figure that, eventually, I'll earn a raise."

"Well, that's fine, young man. Just fine. You don't often see such ambition, these days. I admire you for it."

"Thank you, sir."

"Well, good-by, young man. I won't see you again. You're fired!"

Simple Economics

A witness before one of the Congressional Committees has produced some figures well worth the careful study of every American. They have a direct bearing on everybody's well-being.

The witness testified that from 1931 to 1936 American business corporations paid taxes amounting to $18.000.000-000 in the same period they had taken in only $9,000,000.-000 above operating costs. In other words income was only half enough to pay taxes. The balance had to be made up out of reserve capital and by cutting into operating budgets, which in the final analysis, gets down to jobs and wages.

And there is where everybody's well-being comes into the picture. Some of the "everybodys" had to give up their jobs or accept pay cuts so that money could be used to make up the tax deficiency. Others couldn't sell their goods to the business men because that money, too, was needed for taxes Even farmers had to "contribute" to the deficiency, for they could not sell their products to either the manufacturer or to unemployed workers.

In reality, $9,000,000,000 in capital was confiscated for governmental expense. Had it been left to circulate in its normal channels, it would have kept many of the now idle millions on industrial pay rolls and kept the economic cycle from jamming.—Contributed.

When Bills Come Due

It is about this time of year that the head of the family sits down and ponders over how much he owes. He collects all his bills and budgets his income accordingly. It is just a natural aftermath of Christmas giving.

It is not likely, though, that he will include in his debts a little item of several hundred dollars which he probably isn't conscious that he owes. Yet that debt actually exists. It represents his share, and his family's share, of the I. O. U.'s that repose in the Federal Treasury. There is nearly forty billion dollars in I. O. U.'s there. They represent the Federal Government's deficit (the public debt.)

Righ now the per capita share of that debt is about $303, so if the head of a family of five is figuring up his debts, he must add $1,515.

That would be quite an item to have to include in the family budget. Yet, it is going to have to come out of every family budget in the form of taxes for many years to come.

Well, how much do you owe?—Contributed.

LOCAL.

Having been duly impressed with the splendid skeleton of the new hospital and the magnificence of the site, we have come to the conclusion that every sane person in the county will eventually develop some sort of trivial illness which will permit them a few days in which to relax and gaze upon this gorgeous view. What we don't understand is why nobody ever though of building an hotel on this particular promontory, in our opinion, had they done so, it would have been consistently packed. Never can we remember seeing a more beautiful panorama.

BOOKS.

If you have, in the past, enjoyed the published works of that very versatile lady Cornelia Otis Skinner, by no means miss her current effort "Dithers and Jitters" published by Dodd, Mead and Co., and priced at $2.00. It will cause you many a snicker and probably hit pretty close to home now and then. There are a few copies of "Sketches of the Gold Country" by Harley Leete Jr. still available, you better hurry if you want one. It is a nicely written and beautifully illustrated little volume, and so graphic that we would like to see it in the hands of every visitor to Nevada County for the reason that it gives the reader such a vivid slant on our romantic gold country towns as they are today. Chamber of Commerce please note.

ENTERTAINMENT.

The finest thing yet done in technicolor, is without a shadow of doubt, the new film "Sweethearts." It is perfectly beautiful, and for a musical has a surprisingly good story The cast is excellent, including Mischa Auer, and Frank Morgan. Nelson Eddy sings better than usual, and as for Jeanette MacDonald, well, words simply fail us, her voice is better by far then Grace Moore's and as for her looks and ability as an actress, oh, oh, oh, what a divine dream! Put it on your absolutely list.

SPORTS.

Ski fans should be highly delighted with this slight rain, as it means snow at the higher levels, which same is badly needed because prior to this storm skiing was practically nil, the only place being a small area right up on the Summit. However if this wet weather continues for a day or so, it is safe to predict that skiing will be excellent as low down as Big Bend for the coming week end. Chains will be necessary, so don't forget them. The last snow that fell was dry and powdery.

How many of you were disappointed in the poor showing of both Budge and Vines in their first professional match at Madison Square Garden last Tuesday night? It appeared to us that neither contestant ever really got into the full swing of the game, and although Budge out-played Vines at every turn, Vines never appeared to make any great effort to stop him. Makes one sort of wonder about these pro grames.

HIGH MASS FOR MRS. MAY ORZALLI

Funeral services were held for Mrs. May Orzalli yesterday morning at 10 o'clock in St. Canice Catholic church with Rev. Father J. P. O'Reilly giving high mass for the repose of her soul. Ill only a few days this most highly esteemed woman passed away at an early hour Monday morning.

Pall bearers were Carl Tobiassen, Andrew Tobiassen, Al Huson, Tom Mulcahy, Louie Silicani and William Peard. The funeral was one of the most largely attended in some time and many bouquets and floral pieces gave evidence of the high regard in which the deceased was held.

CHANGE IN METHOD OF PROMOTING STUDENTS

Superintendent of Schools Walter Carlson is changing the method of examination for the seventh and the eighth grades of the elementary schools. Pupils will be advanced and graduated according to the standard of their work throughout the year. He has visited schools in six counties in recent weeks and found the method to be working satisfactorily in each one.

Former County Superintendent of School Mrs. Ella M. Austin has been chosen by Superintendent Carlson to act as rural school supervisor until the close of the school term in the spring.

The misses Mary and Ruth Libbey returned Monday from a visit of several days with Miss Diana Bell in Piedmont. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Libbey motored to Piedmont and returned with the young ladies Monday evening.

Prepared by the Red Cross Visiting Nurse

I suppose a good many mothers are glad their youngsters are back in school and thank heaven, vacations don't come any oftener than they do.

Which brings us to the subject of teaching children the right health and mental habits. It is too bad that many mothers leave this to the teacher or just let their youngsters acquire them willy-nilly like Topsy. This training should be done in the home and started long before school days.

In the first place children are great imitators. They reflect in a large degree the habits of their parents. If their parents are calm, courteous, kind, fair minded, the children usually possess like qualities. Be what you want your child to be.

If on the other hand parents fly off the handle, disagree violently, argue, worry, fret, their child is apt to follow suit.

You can do a great deal in the moulding of your child's character. Here are just a few suggestions: expect your child to do the right thing and give him credit for it when he does; always keep your promises to him; do not show fear in his presence or suggest fear to him; never lose your temper when correcting him; do not baby him; teach him to do things for himself: recognize his wants, but do not give him everything he demands; treat him as an individual with his own ideas, respect his thoughts and opinions.

THE RED CROSS NURSE.

FATHER McGARY, A VISITOR

Father J. J. McGary of Maxwell visited Father J. P. O'Reilly Wednesday. Before going to Maxwell he was the dearly loved priest of Sierra county and is also well known here. During the terrible flu epidemic twenty years ago he rode his horse when he could and often walked miles upon miles carrying food and medicine to sick people regardless of their religion. He did much kindly work about Alleghany where whole families were stricken with the dread flu. He cut wood or ran any errand, always whistling and cheery.

SAVINGS SERVICE BY TELEGRAPH FOR CALIFORNIANS

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 2.—Safety and high return on savings placed with California Federal Savings & Loan Association, an instrumentality of the Federal Government, has been made available to all residents of Southern California through a new service just inaugurated.

The new plan provides that anyone may transmit his savings by telegraph to the California Federal Savings & Loan Association in Los Angeles without cost to him. As a result it is no longer necessary to make a special trip to Los Angeles to open a savings account.

4% and Insured Safety

Widespread public demand for additional conveniences in making available this type of savings account—where each person's funds are earning at the current rate of 4% while being insured up to $5000 by an instrumentality of the Federal Government—has resulted in the establishment of this new service.

Widely Acclaimed

Recognized as being the safest and most convenient method of opening new savings accounts at this Government supervised institution, Mr. J. Howard Edgerton, executive vice president declared, "It has long been a problem how our association could serve investors all over Southern California. Through the use of the telegraph money order the problem is solved. With absolute safety any investor may transmit his funds. They are insured against loss during the entire transaction."

Convenient and Easy

"Here is the procedure to follow. Tell the bonded clerk at your nearest telegraph office that you wish to send your funds by money order to California Federal Savings & Loan Association in Los Angeles. Also send a 10 word message which includes your street address. This entire transaction is at our expense. The same day we receive your money order we will mail your pass book showing receipt in full, without any deduction for the money order charge. We advise all persons to open their account before January 11, then their money will earn from January 1."—(Advertisement).

The mother of Mr. Coughlan is between 87 and 88 years and enjoys the yuletide with all of her children present. Among the guests at the Coughlan home is Father J. J. McGary of Maxwell who always spends the holidays at the ranch.

While Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Coughlan were at North Columbia they attended two New Year parties. Miss Florence Ratcher entertained at the ranch and there were about thirty present for the happy event. ARCTIC MINE

Don C. Billick, superintendent of the mill at the Arctic mine, above Washington, was a Nevada City visitor yesterday. Twelve men are employed developing and mining in three or four tunnels on the property each one being a few hundred feet in length. L. F. Utter is living at the mine and overseeing operations. Mrs. Utter has gone to Los Angeles.

The mill at the Arctic is treating ore two shifts due to shortage of water but Mr. Billick stated it should be put on steady production shortly as the old South Yuba river was booming Thursday morning from the heavy storm of Wednesday night. There were two or three inches of snow on the ground yesterday forenoon.

"VALLEY OF THE GIANTS" COMING

According to the Joyce Kilmer poem, only God can make a tree. The poem is wrong. Out at the Warner Bros. studio, the property department made three trees—or rather three gigantic redwood logs.

For scenes in the Warner picture "Valley of the Giants", which opens at the Nevada Theatre Sunday, Director William Keighley asked that three redwood logs, each ten feet in diameter and thirty feet long be obtained. The logs were to be placed on flat cars, a dog to a car.

It was discovered that to bring the logs of that size from the redwood country to the studio would cost a lot of money. So the property department turnd to and made them. One nice thing about the logs is that two men can lift each one, since t' are really hollow. The real ones would take twenty men.

GARRISON BOND PLAN MAY BE REVIVED AGAIN

By RALPH H. TAYLOR

Of vital interest to California tax payers is the question: "What will the 1939 State Legislature do with regard to the laws governing bond issues—will it relax or tighten restrictions; will it make it easier to incur public indebtedness, or harder?"

The voters of California, at the recent November election, spoke emphatically and decisively on the subject. The Garrison Bond Act, which would have reduced the required vote for revenue bond issues from two-thirds to a bare majority, was defeated by nearly a million majority.

Yet already proponents of the repudiated Garrison Bill are planning to reintroduce it — on the specious plea that the voters were hoodwinked and did not know the merits of the proposal submitted to them.

On the other hand, there is a growing realization on the part of sober, sane-thinking citizens—aware of the colossal public debt already existing and the fact that there must be a day of reckoning—that California must tighten its check-rein on both spending and borrowing.

Reflecting this sentiment, Assemblyman Charles W. Lyon of Los Angeles has announced that he will seek adoption of the Nevada plan of voting on bond issues. This plan requires that in any bond election a two-thirds vote of approval is necessary from both the property owners and the non-property owners, each to be counted separately.

Under the Nevada plan, two ballot boxes would be used at every election involving a bond issue. In one box would be placed the ballots of property owners and in the other the votes of those not owning property. The proposal is in the form of a constitutional amendment and must be submitted to vote of the people if approved by the legislature.

The Agricultural Council of California has not, as yet, made an analysis of the Nevada plan, and it is not the purpose of this writer to advocate the plan, nor oppose it.

But the Council has taken definite action against the Garrison Bill or any other scheme to abolish the present two-thirds vote requirtment on bond issues. And the California State Farm Bureau Federation has taken similar action.

Sponsors of the badly beaten Garrison Bill, in seeking to revive it, argue that the power companies conducted the campaign against it. There is little room for argument on that score, as the power companies have filed a statement with the Secretary of State's office detailing their campaign expenditures.

But the fact remains that scores of state-wide organizations—including the Agricultural Council of California and the State Farm Bureau Federation—which have no interest in the power companies and owe no allegiance to them, also opposed the Garrison Bill because they were convinced it would let down the bars to unbridled public borrowing and would encourage the launching of impractical and visionary projects which would inevitably become a burden on the common taxpayer. And in the final analysis, business, labor, agriculture and industry all suffer as a result of unsound public borrowing.

The State Legislature, when it considers the public debt question, needs to divorce it entirely from the question of public ownership versus private ownership. It needs to consider the welfare of California taxpayers. And before it relaxes the restrictions on public borrowings, it needs to consider that California, during the last few years, has been invaded by more than 800,000 destitute itinerants, who are now voters in California and whose only stake in California is the stake that the relief agencies accord them.

Whether California needs to tighten the restrictions on public bond issues may be debatable, though undoubtedly most taxpayers would vote for such restrictions. But whether California should relax restrictions on public borrowing is not debatable. The voters have spoken—and the verdict was overwhelmingly "No." And that verdict would have been the same, irrespective of whether the power companies favored or opposed the proposal. The people of California simply are opposed to making it easier to get into debt—and it is to be hoped that the legislature will take their word for it!

ANTIPODES FLOWERS — AND ICE, IN BOND!

Rare native flowers from "down under"—Melbourne, Australia, to be exact—encased in 400 pounds of ice traveled 8600 nautical miles only to encounter a customs technicality which placed them in a San Francisco cold storage warehouse in bond! Consigned to the California State Commission for the Golden Gate International Exposition for purposes of study and as a test shipment to prove the merit of this mode of transportation for rare flowers from other continents, the frozen blossoms and the frigid containers must be exported within a period of six months, according to official decree. The Floricultural Palace on Treasure Island in 1939, 250 feet in length, will show these and countless other exotic blossoms.

From Aunt Sarah

Thanksgiving, Christmas and New Years made deep inroads in the family budgets, but we still have to eat so why not try the lowly corn beef and cabbage for a winter meal. We find it attractively served in this New England boiled dinner recipe sent to Aunt Sarah by Mrs. Harriet Farmer whose good cookery is well known by her many friends.

New England Boiled Dinner
(Mrs. Harriet Farmer)

Select a nice piece of corn beef, size according to your family, and also a small piece of leg of pork or shoulder. Put beef on to boil early in the morning.

Prepare cabbage, carrots, turnips, parsnips and white potatoes according to the number to be served. Cut cabbage in half, other vegetables lengthwise.

Put to soak the night before, 1½ cups cranberry beans. In the morning drain and put into a cloth bag, leaving plenty of room for beans to expand. Put this into the kettle with the beef. The pork will not need as much cooking as the beef. When meat is nearly done add cabbage; add the other vegetables according to the time left to finish cooking.

Cook beets separately and when done arrange around meat on platter when serving.

DEER SLAYER IS REVEALED TO BE FORMER CONVICT

The sheriff's office was informed late Wednesday that Wilbur Wheelock, alias W. C. Dove, one of the four men arrested by Game Warden Earl Hiscox on the South Yuba river December 28 for illegal possession of venison and sentenced to serve 90 days in jail, was wanted as an escaped convict from Iowa state prison at Fort Madison, Iowa, where he escaped July 25, 1938.

Sheriff Tobiassen fingerprinted the man and sent the prints to Washington where the discovery was made. A telegraphed message was received from Iowa authorities stating that an officer was being sent to return Wheelock.

Game Warden Hiscox stated Wednesday night that one of the men in the party of four told him that Frank Adams was wanted by police in Washington state. No returns have been received on the other men, it was reported.

The rain gauge at the home of Mrs. Jennie Preston gave 2.58 inches of rain for Wednesday night and predictions are for continued storm. There were 8.04 inches of rain for the season and this storm makes a total of 10.62 inches.

Report Discloses Greatest Year

BANK OF AMERICA AT ALL TIME HIGH

Typifying the "banking that is building California," the year-end statement of condition just released by Bank of America shows that on December 31, 1938 loans outstanding aggregated $43,160,000 more than on the same date 12 months before. Deposits attained a total of $1,437,027,000, an increase of $79,649,000 over the 1937 year-end.

After payment of dividends to stockholders at the rate of $2.40 per share totaling $9,600,000, capital funds reached the high mark of $114,058,000, a substantial increase over the previous year-end high of $109,104,000 at the beginning of the year. There was added to Surplus and Undivided Profits the amount of $4,953,000 after provision of $3,639,000 reserve for depreciation on banking premises, amortization of bond premiums, etc., and $6,253,000 reserves applied to reduce carrying value of assets.

RESERVES REVEALED

Reserves of Bank of America provided as deductions from the carrying value of assets are shown in the statement of condition, with $9,533,000 provided for possible losses on outstanding loans, $5,997,000 reserved against bonds and other securities owned, and depreciation of $15,477,000 provided for bank premises, furniture and fixtures. The statement shows that securities, valued at $557,632,000 are carried at substantially less than the market value. L. M. Giannini, President, stated that 1938 earnings set a new high totaling $25,622,000. There was also allotted to the bank's personnel under its profit sharing bonus plan $1,175,000. This added compensation equalled 7½% of salaries up to $500 a month, and 5% of any portion of salaries in excess of $500 a month.

A NEW RECORD

Total resources of the bank for the first time rose above the billion and a half mark. The total was $1,574,721,000, a gain of $81,348,000 for the year. At the close of 1938, Bank of America branches in California numbered 494, serving 307 communities.

"In view of the prevailing adverse economic conditions during most of the year with consequent generally decreased bank earnings," Giannini stated, "it is particularly gratifying to present to the public such an outstanding report of healthy progress. This is due to the confidence in and support of the bank by its old and new customers, the wholehearted cooperation of its staff, and the fundamental economic soundness of California."
